As expressed this morning at the First Open-ended informal consultative meeting, Argentina proposes to change the item 6, in paragraph 5, section A (Preamble) of the pre-zero draft of the post-2015 framework for drr in this way:

“It is necessary that all stakeholders be recognized and take on roles and responsibilities in order to play their part in close partnerships in the common endeavor, to support and collaborate with the States’ institutions considering that Governments are the main responsible of managing disaster risk“.
